NO HINT GIVEN ON SETUP OF DUFF CABINET

Speculation Over Makeup of Governor-Elect's Official Family Holds Spotlight

TOP POST FOR BELL

Harrisburg, Nov. 7.—(P)—Governor-elect James H. Duff's cabinet took the top spot in political speculation today as Republicans and Democrats alike settled down after the G.O.P. Landslide in Tuesday's elections.

Duff has given no hint as to the makeup of his official family but speculation turned toward Lt. Governor John C. Bell for Duff's present post as attorney general. Bell twice has figured as a possible candidate for governor—before Governor Martin's nomination in 1942 and during the conference which produced Duff as the organization candidate this spring.

Bell, who served as secretary of banking in the administration of former Governor Arthur H. James, took second place on the ticket in 1942 and gave his support to Duff upon the latter's selection as organization candidate before the May Primary.

All key legislative figures were either returned by the voters or were completing four year terms in the senate, and few changes are anticipated in majority and minority posts when the general assembly convenes early in January.

In the Senate Majority Leader Weldon Heyburn (R-Delaware) and Minority Leader John Dent, (D-Westmoreland) were both back for at least two more years. Dent was a candidate for Lt. Governor, but lost to Brig. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler, who will now preside over the senate as successor to Bell.

The speaker of the house, Ira T. Eiss, (R-Snyder) was reelected along with house majority leader Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, (R-Lehigh) who is being mentioned as a probable speaker if Eiss decides not to seek a third term. A third Republican to be returned by the sweep was the G. O. P. house whip, Herbert Sorg (R-Elk).

On the Democratic side Minority Leader William C. Andrews (D-Cambria) was returned to the house, along with the Democratic whip, James E. Lovett, (D-Westmoreland).

Practically complete returns indicated the Republicans would have 34 seats in the senate to 16 for the Democrats, giving the G. O. P. the two-third majority required to confirm appointments by Governor-elect Duff.

The majorities rolled up by the Republican candidates for state-wide office were the largest since 1890, with Martin carrying all but five of the state's 67 counties and Duff winning in 61 of the 67.

The total vote in 8222 of the state's 8239 precincts was: For U. S. Senator—Governor Martin, 1,845,616; Joseph F. Guffey, 1,242,193.

For Governor—James H. Duff, 1,820,139; John S. Rice, 1,266,670.

For Lt. Governor—Daniel B. Strickler, 1,809,621; John H. Dent, 1,238,756.

Dewey Is Re-elected Easily

Thomas E. Dewey, titular leader of the Republican party and a potential presidential nominee in 1948, won a smashing victory in his bid for re-election as governor of New York. He was opposed by Senator James M. Mead, three-party candidate supported by the P.A.C. No Slackening of Decontrols In Wake of Election Debacle

Washington, Nov. 7.—(P)—A top government official said today there will be no slackening of price and wage decontrol in the wake of the administration's election debacle.

Even as O.P.A. posted higher prices for many infants' and children's cotton garments and some other clothing items, this official told a reporter "the chances are better than 50-50" that price controls on all wearing apparel and textiles will be removed "very soon."

This action may be taken when O.P.A.'s so-called master decontrol list is announced, possibly this weekend. Elimination of price ceilings on clothing and textiles automatically would free these industries of wage controls.

A high official said heads of government agencies concerned have been holding conferences to determine whether such items as automobiles and basic commodities like coal, building materials, steel and other metals should be freed of controls at this time.

The official added that much consideration is being given to contractors' contentions that the veterans' housing program would move along faster if building materials were decontrolled. Housing Administrator Wilson Wyatt has opposed removing these ceilings.

O.P.A. said today that many cotton garments for infants and children will cost from 10 to 15 percent more, while men's individually packaged handkerchiefs will go up by 25 percent.

The agency said this will result from allowing manufacturers to absorb the increased cost of material costs to their present ceilings.

A smaller increase in low-cost men's tailored clothing was predicted by O.P.A. as the result of an order permitting manufacturers to include in their ceilings a recent 10 percent price rise for certain woolen and worsted fabrics. Officials said the result would be retail prices 3 or 4 per cent higher.

Major decontrol actions yesterday lifted price ceilings from household vacuum cleaners and attachments, feather beds and down, domestic ironing machines and clothes dryers, and mouton lamb and rabbit fur skins.

OFFICIAL COUNT MAY DECIDE W. VA. RACE

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 7.—(P)—A period of watchful waiting began for Democratic and Republican party leaders in West Virginia today as an aftermath of ballot counting which showed U. S. Senator Harley M. Kilgore leading by only 3,000 votes in his bid for a second term.

The Beckley Democrat, on the basis of the unofficial return of Tuesday's election, was ahead of Republican senatorial nominee Thomas B. Sweeney of Wheeling 271,477 votes to 268,258 in 2,786 of the state's 2,779 precincts.

The count in some of the missing precincts was not available until the official canvass relocation the tally sheets were sealed in the ballot boxes.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan, who is expected to become foreign relations chairman in the Republican controlled senate, said today his own reelection "means unmistakable endorsement of the united, bipartisan foreign policy" which he has had a large share in developing over the last two years. He added:

"I take it the national returns present a similar mandate. They mean that this policy will continue."

John Foster Dulles, an alternate member of the United Nations delegation, said he was confident that "a Republican congress will not throw our foreign policy into confusion, but rather make it stronger and clearer, for the benefit of ourselves and the world."

For the United Nations drove through another round of committee work today and the foreign ministers marked time until tomorrow as the dispute over control of strategic Trieste, Republican statements on the foreign policy situation were much discussed by diplomats here.

$635,000,000 For Christmas Club Members

New York, Nov. 7.—(P)—Members of the Christmas Club will receive $635,000,000 this holiday season—the greatest amount in the corporation's 36 years of operation.

Herbert F. Rawll, founder and president, announced today. The distribution, which will begin Monday, November 25, represents savings of 8,350,000 members in about 5,000 banking and savings institutions and other organizations. It is in addition to $124,557,464 that will be paid out to depositors by Christmas clubs in the nation's mutual savings banks.

Average distribution per member, it was said, is about $100 in large metropolitan areas and $76 for the entire country, compared with $72 a year ago. The savings total is 15.7 per cent higher than in 1945 and membership shows an increase of 760,000 persons. New York State leads the nation in distribution with about $176,000,000 to be paid out, Rawll said. Pennsylvania members will receive $78,000,000, Massachusetts $63,000,000 and New Jersey $49,000,000.

BULLETINS

New Delhi, Nov. 7.—(P)—At least three persons were killed and seven injured in New Delhi today in an outbreak of Hindu-Muslim rioting broken up only after police opened fire.

Philadelphia, Nov. 7.—(P)—The 577 CIO-American Newspaper Guild members of the Philadelphia Record and Camden, N. J., Courier-Post went on strike at noon today over wage and other demands in a new contract.

Washington, Nov. 7.—(P)—With three states in the south missing and the rest of the states incomplete except for a few, an Associated Press tabulation today showed the Republicans had outvoted the Democrats in the nation by more than 3,000,000.

New York, Nov. 7.—(P)—Eugene Meyer, president of the World Bank, declared today that strikes in this country are threatening the world with economic starvation and thereby endangering the peace.

Catskill, N. Y., Nov. 7.—(P)—Two men were burned to death today when a tractor trailer, heavily loaded with tombstones, failed to make a turn, crashed into an abutment in a railroad underpass and caught fire, five miles south of here.

TRAILER LOADED WITH WHISKEY IS STOLEN

Philadelphia, Nov. 7.—(P)—A fully-loaded trailer containing 700 cases of whiskey valued at $28,000, which was stolen from a parking lot, was sought today by Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York state police.

Daniel McGrath, assistant manager of the Boyce Motor Company's office here, said hijackers apparently drove into the unguarded parking lot with their own truck, hitched it to the loaded trailer and drove away.

McGrath said the cargo was destined for Elmira, N. Y.

Possibility of President Resigning In Face of Political Rebuke Eliminated

GOP Jubilation Is Tempered By Prospects of Bitter Party Fights Over Spoils of Election

Washington, Nov. 7.—(P)—The prospect of intra-party strife over divvying up the spoils tempered Republican elation today over the party's landslide victory in Tuesday's election.

Party leaders arranging for policy sessions starting next week were bedeviled by clearly-etched signs that the first sweet taste of political victory in 15 years may be soured by fights for top congressional posts.

But the leaders appeared confident of one thing: Whatever fights may develop during the jockeying for position will be reconciled quickly enough to permit a united front when the Republicans organize the senate and house of the 80th congress on January 3.

Between November 14, when the Republican house steering committee meets, and January 3, GOP leaders expect to pick a state of officers for party caucus ratification and to erect the framework of their legislative policy.

High on the policy agenda are decisions on:

1. Taxes—Whether to cut individual income taxes by 20 percent, or $3,000,000,000, as Republican Representative Knutson (Minn.) insists should be done quickly. Knutson is in line for the chairmanship of the tax-writing ways and means committee.

2. Price controls—whether to finish off O.P.A. in short order rather than allow the agency to linger on until June 30.

3. Federal spending—specifically, how to balance the budget if taxes are cut.

The major organization battle is expected to revolve around selection of a floor leader in the house. There is no one on the horizon to challenge the bid of Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts for the speakership to be vacated when Sam Rayburn of Texas steps down from the rostrum to take his place with the Democratic minority.

The Republican floor leader during the party's political depression years, Martin automatically is in line for the speakership.

Mentioned most frequently as leader contenders for the floor leadership are Reps. Clarence Brown of Ohio and Charles Halleck of Indiana.

The Republican caucus also must decide the recipients of such choice patronage posts in the house set-up as the clerkship, sergeant-at-arms and doorkeeper. There will be no reason to give any of them up now that they are within reach.

In the senate, Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan has the inside track for election as president pro tem and also is slated to be chairman of the potent foreign relations committee.

Robert A. Taft of Ohio is expected by many to become senate

Thousands Join In Bolshevik Parade

Moscow, Nov. 7.—(P)—Thousands thronged Red Square today to witness a display of Soviet military might in a celebration of the 29th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution highlighted by an order of the day declaring Russian preparedness was necessary to guarantee peace and security throughout the world.

The parade began after the usual formal greeting to troops, delivered by Marshal Leonid Govorov, 49-year-old hero of Lenin.

(Moscow dispatches gave no indication that Prime Minister Stalin attended the celebrations. The fact the speech preceding the parade was delivered by Govorov suggested that, for the second successive year, Stalin shunned the limelight. Likewise, the order of the day was signed by the deputy minister for defense and not by the prime minister. A year ago Stalin broke a precedent by allowing Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to deliver the "state of the nation" before deciding on an

Local Schools To Observe American Education Week

American Education Week will be observed by the Warren public schools during the week beginning November 10. This is the 26th observance of American Education Week as sponsored by the American Legion and the National Education Association.

President Truman issued a statement last week urging all citizens should "give serious thought to the theme selected for this year's observance, 'Education for the Atomic Bomb.'"

The public is urged to attend the observance of this week at the high school building when the high school will be host to its patrons, Ruth Kaehnick, of 106 Canton street, will read her prize essay for the group.

On Tuesday evening, November 12, evening programs or class room acquaintance hours are being held from 7:00 to 8:30 at East Street school, Home Street school, and the South Street school.

On Wednesday, November 13, Home and Seneca are having visiting day.

Evening programs beginning at seven o'clock will be held at McClintock and Johnson on Thursday, November 14.

Lacy is observing visiting hours throughout the week of November 11 with a special program on November 19 in connection with its regular F. T. A. meeting.

Washington, Nov. 7.—(P)—President Truman, his administration rebuked at the polls, faced with outward calm today three political decisions which could alter the course of American and world events.

Mr. Truman apparently must decide:

1. Whether he shall compromise with the Republican dominated congress on controversial domestic and foreign issues, or challenge it and fight back with Democratic support.

2. Whether he shall attempt to lead his own party back toward the more conservative line that appeared to be popularized by Tuesday's sweeping GOP victories or steer it even more forcefully toward the opposite side of center.

3. Whether he shall attempt to rally dispersed Democratic forces around himself as a candidate for reelection in 1948 or prepare to step aside then for some other nominee.

Mr. Truman gave no indication that he is considering with any seriousness the outcropping of suggestions that he supplant Secretary of State Acheson with a Republican—presumably Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan—and then resign to permit that Republican to become president for full GOP control of the government.

This suggestion, first made by Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.) and supported by Rep. Luther Patrick (D-Ala.), was taken up editorially by The Chicago Sun, a strong backer of the late President Roosevelt's administration but a sometime critic of the Truman course.

For the first time in 14 years the 80th congress which convenes next January will be controlled by the party which does not hold the White House.

Tuesday's landslide swept the Republicans to a three-vote majority in the senate and at least a 28-member advantage in the house. For hours and still were undecided on late returns, with the Republican leading in one and the Democrat in the other. Aside from these the Republicans had elected 246 members, the Democrats 185 and American Labor one.

The senate division stood at 51 Republicans and 49 Democrats, with the Democrats leading by comfortable, if not decisive, margins in three contests not yet settled.

Thus Mr. Truman presumably could count on substantial minority support in both houses.

Las Vegas, Nov. 7.—(P)—Mrs. Bridget Waters, self-widowed Irish war bride, today began in Carson City's weathered old state prison a one to five year term which can be shortened to 11 months.

Mrs. Waters, convicted Sunday of manslaughter for the shooting of her husband, Frank Knowlton, was sentenced to the term yesterday by District Judge S. Henderson, who rejected a defense appeal that she be sentenced merely for a gross misdemeanor and let off with a $1,000 fine which is permissible under Nevada law.

Mrs. Waters, 26-year-old, black-haired and attractive, accepted the decision equably. "I'm glad," she said to her 18-month-old baby as she was led away by Sheriff Glen Jones.

Republicans hold a two-state edge in the nation's governorships today, the same margin the Democrats had before the election.

The GOP gains results from overturning Democratic state administrations in Ohio, Massachusetts and Idaho. This three-state margin was whittled to two when the Democrats captured the governorship in Colorado, where the GOP had been in power.

In Tuesday's 34 contests, Republicans marked up victories in 20 states.

California, Connecticut, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Vermont and Wisconsin.

EXECUTIVE IS FACING THREE VITAL ISSUES

Must Decide Whether He Will Rally Forces Around Self as Candidate for Re-Election

ALTERS WORLD COURSE

Washington, Nov. 7.—(P)—President Truman is not going to resign and has not even seriously considered the possibility. This can be reported today without qualification.

The suggestion that Mr. Truman appoint a Republican secretary of state and resign to permit the GOP to take over the presidency came from Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.).

It was echoed in some newspapers normally Democratic, but Rep. Sparkman, (D-Ala.) asserted that such a step was "not the thing to do."

The attitude around the White House today was that the suggestion should not be dignified by comment either from the president or any member of his staff.

It was known that Mr. Truman himself felt that to resign now after the Democrats' crushing election defeat, would be to run out on the job.

Yesterday Is Nowhere

Chapter 10

NIEL sank down on the edge of the bed thinking of Freya. She must feel well to be hiking along like that with skates slung over her shoulder. Skates! She must have been to that rink somewhere over the hill. If he could break out early some afternoon he might find her at the rink. As he hung his coat in the closet he heard Conrad and Joseph trying to catch the cat in the attic directly above him. If he could break through the ceiling of the closet, the rest was possible. On the left was a hanging rod with two shelves above, on the right five shelves. Standing on the second shelf he could touch the ceiling. His finger nail made only a scratch on the plaster. What he needed was a knife. He might steal one at dinner, only they always watched him intently like curious children. Failing that he must wait till morning and keep back a knife from his breakfast tray, but that would be a day wasted because he could not work on the plaster while Siegmund stood guard. With the knife he could chip the plaster piece by piece hiding it on the shelf above the hanging rod. If this house was like others the lathes could be pushed up and snapped and to cover the crack of their breaking he'd run the water in the bathroom. It was possible. And he must see Freya and hear more about Franz Steiner.

It was almost pleasant to stretch full length on the bed and plan his own escape.

When Stephanie left Niel and Conrad in the driveway her one desire was to be alone. She went to her room and sat still wearing her coat until the violet dimness of dusk blurred the pictures on the walls lending a tone of sadness that matched her feelings.

A knock sounded and she drew back uneasily fearing another argument with Franz, arguments which left a twisting ache of conscious fear of what was happening, where it would end.

"Come in," she called and she watched Franz's approach in the mirror of her dressing table. Lately he seldom entered her room, seeming when he did a little awkward, unsure of his ability to influence her. But in spite of his mask she sensed some of his former gaiety. It crossed her mind that he and Von Beck must have made more arrangements.

"Not out of your coat! You've been in the house almost an hour."

"I've been sitting here looking at my face."

He laughed. "What's wrong with it?" He stood close behind her meeting her eyes in the mirror.

"How little it seems to change in spite of all that has happened."

"I don't think it will ever change noticeably," he said gently. "When you are very old you will still look like a lovely flower." She stood up and he helped her off with her coat.

"I wish it would change," she said with feeling. "I think then I'd feel less like one living a dream."

"You ought to pull a tighter rein on your imagination," as she remained silent he went on. "Don't be angry, I know you're an intelligent woman, that's why I want you to try to understand our country's problems."

"I do understand, but not your specific solutions for those problems," his deep breath and the flash in his eyes made her feel sick. "Don't talk politics Franz. I'm sick of it! Sit down for awhile."

"I really came," he said "to thank you for going in the sleigh this afternoon."

She looked at him quickly, nervously. "I didn't talk to him very much."

"But you have broken the ice. What do you think of him?"

She looked away for a minute. "He's very kind."

"What a thing to say about a man like Dana. He's remarkable in his own way." There was alarm in her eyes.

"Did you tell him?"

"No... that will keep till it is time for me to leave."

"Then—"

"Then it will be out of my hands. I'll not be responsible for what happens."

"You'll always be responsible, it was your idea." Then with rising spirit, "Do you think you can fool his mother, what if he's in love with a woman, could you fool her?"

"Look here," he said triumphantly turning to the mirror untie the strings of his mask pulling it away from his dark brown hair. "Look," he cried, "feature for feature the same, the eyes, the skin, the mouth and teeth, even the voice when I choose it to be so." He changed his voice to sound like Niel's and looked down at her. "I could be Niel Dana... when I go to Berlin I will be Niel Dana."

She cried, "There must be a difference, but I can't see it."

He laughed smugly facing the mirror. "Of course you can't see it—it isn't there. We are identical the American and I, only I seem to be the preferred copy." It was then she caught in the depths of his expression a cunning arrogance that made her think, there is the difference!

"I only regret that you are unhappy Stephanie, and I don't seem to be able to do anything about it."

"It's more than that. There's no place in this new life you've chosen for me. We've drifted apart these last years and you've lost something, you've changed. You're not as you used to be."

"We all change, dear," he said soberly. "But I don't want to lose you, Stephanie."

"Perhaps Gita Neumann can take my place—after you take Niel Dana's." His hands dropped from her hair.

"No," he said hoarsely. "I've not planned that way."

"That would be more simple. You can't live two lives. Once you go there will be no coming back—Paul Von Beck will see to that."

She knew she'd lost. In a corner of her brain she never expected defeat, now she acknowledged it. The bitterness of it dried her throat, smothered her eyes. He kissed her then, but there was no light in his eyes, only regret that was like grief and the touch of his lips was more a farewell than anything she had yet experienced.

New Bishop Is Consecrated At Utica, N. Y.

Utica, N. Y., Nov. 7.—(AP)—The Rev. Harold E. Sawyer of Utica Wednesday was consecrated as bishop of the Erie, Pa. Episcopal diocese in a ceremony at Grace Episcopal church in which 14 other bishops and 120 vested clergymen took part.

The Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, bishop of Virginia and presiding bishop of the Episcopal church, officiated.

Co-consecrators were the Rt. Rev. Malcolm E. Peabody of Syracuse, bishop of the central New York diocese, and the Rt. Rev. John Chamberlain Ward, retired bishop of Erie.

The consecration sermon was given by the Rt. Rev. Wallace John Gardner, DD, bishop of New Jersey.

Trinity Memorial Episcopal church, Warren, comes under the jurisdiction of the Episcopal diocese of Erie and the Rev. and Mrs. Eucher M. Rutledge attended the consecration.

The Rev. Rutledge, while serving as rector at Owego, N. Y., became acquainted with the new bishop and they eventually became close friends. The local rector lauded the new head of the Erie diocese stating that the diocese "was indeed fortunate to secure his services."

The new bishop has served as rector of Grace church in Utica for the past 28 years. He has announced that he will be in Warren early this month to hold confirmation services in the local church.

Kane Youth Is Paroled To Sheriff Linder

Roy Haines, 17, of Kane picked up by officers in connection with the operation of the Ferry gang of cabin and cottage thieves some time ago appeared in juvenile court this morning. Since his arrest the boy has been with his parents at Kane. Due to his age he was not sentenced when Harry and Clarence Ferry and Herman Matle were before Judge Allison Wade. This morning the boy appeared in court and after testimony he was placed in the custody of Sheriff L. E. Linder and returned to the home of his parents in Kane. He will be a parolee of the court until he reaches the age of 21.

Mrs. Elizabeth Parker appeared in court this morning and entered a plea of guilty on a charge of assault and battery. Complaint was made to the borough police some time ago by Mrs. Edward Larson that she had been beaten over the head with a hammer by Mrs. Parker. Investigation was made later through the District Attorney's office and the woman arrested. She was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution and placed under parole for three years. Membership Drive Planned By Y. M. C. A.

Development of the campaign organization is now under way for the annual Y.M.C.A. Call to Membership, which will be conducted from Nov. 19 to 25 inclusive. The goal of the campaign will be 600 new and renewal memberships.

W. Howard Alexander, president of the Association, has been elected by the Board of Directors to serve as General Chairman of the effort. There will be two divisions, each with five teams, and the heads of these two divisions, appointed by Mr. Alexander, are Donald H. Mowell and Grover C. Lind, both veteran "Y" campaigners.

Tonight at five o'clock a special meeting of team captains has been called for selection of team members, discussion of rules and plans and for other business essential to the campaign's success. This meeting will be held at the "Y", will adjourn no later than 6 p. m., and it is important that all captains be in attendance.

Each team will be set up as a college football team, and the teams in each division will make up a league, competing within the league, and then each league competing against the other. Mr. Mowell will be head-coach of the Mid-West League, and Mr. Lind of the Eastern League. Tonight the captains will choose the colleges they wish to represent.

Campaign dates to be remembered are the "Kick-off" on Tuesday, Nov. 19, a mid-way report on Thursday, Nov. 21, and the final meeting on Monday, Nov. 25.

Lacy Gray-Y Club Election Takes Place

Lacy School's Gray-Y Club held its election of officers Monday afternoon at a meeting attended by 46 boys in the school auditorium. The following boys were elected to lead the club activities: President, Dennis Fick, vice-president, Delbert Sedon, secretary-treasurer, Elwyn Ristau. Tuesday night the officers of the East St. Gray-Y Club were installed and the members inducted during ceremonies conducted in the YWCA auditorium.

The Gray-Y football league is progressing nicely with Lacy out in front with 3 wins and no losses. East Street is holding second place, its third game, with Johnson, scheduled for Thursday of this week. On Friday Lacy outclassed a weaker Home Street eleven, winning by the score of 67-0. Monday's game was the most thrilling thus far in the schedule. South Street eked out a 13-12 victory over a scrappy McClintock aggregation in a tilt that was nip and tuck all the way through. On Tuesday Home Street, minus the services of two regulars, was unable to score against the strong East Street combine, and wound up on the short end of a 66-0 score. On several occasions Home Street threatened to score, but was held each time for downs by the East forward wall.

Lacy again showed its power Wednesday in sinking South St. 44-0. An important game will take place Friday afternoon when Lacy and East tangle, and from all indications the game should be a thriller. McClintock and Johnson will clash Saturday morning at ten o'clock. All games are played on Beaty Field.

Russell, Nov. 5.—On Hallowe'en night Russell saw what many old timers say was the largest crowd they ever saw gathered in Russell.

R. Hammar Mill held its first annual Hallowe'en party and opening of its new Farm and Home Supply Dept. at 7:30 p. m. The Russell High School band in their snappy uniforms and under the direction of Miss Mildred Brady started a parade which ended in front of R. Hammar Mill where a few numbers were played. The program was then continued in the new department where the following program was rendered: Invocation by Rev. Paul F. Erickson of Jamestown, comedy musical numbers by Inar Anderson and Howard Fox. Remarks by J. Leo Anderson, president Wilbur Feed Co. Illustrated lecture on Soybeans by Russell Baer, Sales Manager of Wilbur Feed Co.; Magical tricks by Kenneth Nickerson; more comedy and singing by Inar Anderson and Howard Fox. Mrs. Fox accompanied. The memory of Fred E. Thompson, former owner of the mill was honored. Baskets of flowers were presented by friends. Prizes were given away. Order and donuts were served over 200 people crowded into the new department and about another 200 were unable to get into the building. Comments around Russell are that there was less Hallowe'en mischief this year than usual. Mr. Hammar is now making plans for next year's party. Anyone got a hall which would accommodate about 500 in Russell.

Thanks to the men of the Fire Department for providing traffic protection for the band during the parade.

Robert H. Chalmers, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hedges of Russell and Miss Regina Vondrack of Sioux City Iowa were married at Clinton, Ohio, Friday evening by the Rev. Reburg. Veterans Now Can Secure VA Dental Care

Veterans with Service Connected Dental Conditions now may have a "free choice" of private dentists when Veteran Administration dental clinic service is not "feasibly available", was announced today by Dr. Jack H. Clark, Chief, Dental Service, Erie Sub-Regional Area.

Under the new free-schedule program, worked out in cooperation with the American Dental Association, VA will pay the bills for this service furnished by local "participating dentists on a fee basis", as they are called, when the veterans can not be taken care of in VA's own dental clinics.

The new program also revises previous fee schedules, which became antiquated because they did not reflect rising prices. This makes it possible for more dentists to help treat eligible veterans. The new fee schedule is now in effect and operating.

The program makes it possible for a veteran with a service-connected dental condition to receive hometown care such as the disabled veteran receives for his service-connected disabilities when he goes to a physician of his own choice. The dental program is in effect throughout the county while medical contracts are statewide and there remains approximately some 20 states under negotiation. Pennsylvania Medical Association became affiliated in the new program, as recent as October 1946.

A directive on the VA dental care program said in part: "It is the approved policy of VA to appoint on a fee basis, all ethically and professionally qualified dentists who wish to render dental service to the veterans. Dentists should be nominated by the State Dental Society, and their appointments are subject to the approval of the Chief, Dental Division, Branch Office."

Veterans who are having dental treatment which has not been authorized by the Veterans Administration should stop treatment immediately and contact the Veterans Administration Dental Clinic, if compensation is expected for their treatment. All work to be paid for by the Veterans Administration under the fee-schedule plan must be authorized and prior to the authorization an examination should be made at the Dental Clinic, Veterans Administration. These examinations should be made prior to one year from date of discharge. Veterans who have passed one year from date of discharge may file claim for out-patient dental treatment and the claim will be forwarded to the Adjudication Division in Pittsburgh for their service connection.

Each State dental society has been requested to name a Dental Advisory Committee to approve nominations of applicants and to

Sheffield Champs Will Enjoy Trip to State College Saturday

Sheffield, Nov. 6.—Through the efforts of the Civic Association and Allen Gibson in particular, plus the wholehearted cooperation of the Pennsylvania State College, members of this year's High School football squad are to be treated to the Penn State-Temple football game this week-end which is scheduled for the State College football field.

Here is the story. State College donated 55 tickets, 20 of which we have to pay the tax on; nine local citizens have offered their cars to provide the transportation; while volunteers made a canvas of the town collecting money to provide for food and gasoline for the trip. Those partaking in the trip will have a dinner served them at the Phillipsburg Hotel, on their return trip. If this dinner measures up to those served by this hotel in past years the boys will enjoy the meal as much as the ball game.

Local business men, merchants and individuals have responded generously in supplying the funds necessary to make the trip a complete success. Members of the squad have already expressed their gratitude for the many nice things that have been done for them since their closing of their successful season. Individuals in all walks of life have commented on the great game played by the Wolverines during the entire season. Coaches Cashmere and Eisenhauer are to be congratulated on the splendid way in which they gave the town their first real winning team in years.

And so through the generosity of State College the season will be culminated in a most satisfactory manner for the boys are sure to get real enjoyment out of the trip planned for them this Saturday.

CORYDON

Corydon, Nov. 5.—Mrs. Margaret Coates, local instructor delightfully entertained school children and a number of parents at a Halloween party at the schoolhouse building appropriately decorated for the fun-loving occasion. Pupils came costumed and those winning prizes were Jimmy Pascarella, Sandra Black, Janet and Johnny Schuler. Games were provided for amusement, refreshments bringing the affair to a close.

Scheduled for Monday November fourth was the Corydon Women's Home Economics Group for an organization and program planning gathering at the home of Mrs. Paul Duntley.

Mrs. George Akers, Mrs. A. R. Fair, Miss Lena Schuler, Mrs. Erling Owre and John Schuler, motored to Akers recently to attend a birthday dinner honoring their sister Mrs. Arthur Bradley. Announcement was made recently of the birth of a son in Warren hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Merle Trumbull. A native of Corydon, Mrs. Trumbull, is the former Rebecca Williams.

Mrs. Ed Wolford and daughter and Mrs. LeRoy Barge were here recently guests of Mrs. B. M. Stoltz.

Mrs. Erling Owre, spending two weeks with local relatives and friends has returned to her home in Staten Island.

WINGS OF TOMORROW: The Story of Aviation

BY CHARLES TRACY
Aviation editor, Cleveland Press, former Army pilot (Written for NEA Service)

(1) Priority cargo and air mail of the future will be shot from origin to destination by pilotless rocket, radio-controlled and completely independent of weather influence. Tracks in the sky as true as today's rails will connect major cities of the world. Hastening the approach of that new era by making industries conscious of the advantages of air shipping are today's numerous air freight lines operated by war veterans using surplus military cargo planes

With luxurious, pressurized cabins, they'll make international air travel as common as domestic flights are today, paving the way for the greatly expanded services which

Brokenstraw Garden Club Has Dinner At Bailey Home

Youngville Nov. 7—A delicious dinner was the opening feature of the well attended regular meeting of Brokenstraw Garden Club, held Tuesday evening, with Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bailey. Reasons for Thanksgiving were named in the roll call. At the business session with the president, Mrs. C. C. Johnson in the chair, comments were made on the use being made of the waste cans which the Garden Club recently placed about town. It was reported that they were proving a real help in keeping our business streets tidy. However, there is still room for improvement in their use.

The chair appointed a nominating committee for an election of officers at the next meeting and also a committee to make arrangements for the co-operative turkey dinner to be held with Mrs. H. H. Hull on Tuesday evening, December 3rd. Mrs. Mertie Kay volunteered to roast the turkey for this event. It was also decided to exchange fifty cent gifts at this meeting which will be the regular December meeting.

A feature of the evening was a display of winter bouquets brought by members. These included grasses of various ornamental kinds, several red berries which will last for some time, and a variety of seed pods. Those of the Chinese lantern plant were especially attractive when the red closed pod was opened, making a flower like appearance with red petals and a darker red center. A very attractive flower picture was made by gluing onto cardboard various seeds including corn and small nuts and branches and acorns.

The program was conducted by Mrs. Catherine Carr, who opened by reading a poem. An interesting article was read concerning Mrs. Carr's great uncle, Frank Miller, who about sixty years ago on his farm near Sugar Grove planted a nursery of evergreen trees, many of them imported. The farm was later owned by his son, Hugh Miller, and is now owned by Mr. Thompson. The trees have grown large, some can be seen from the Sugar Grove road which leads to Big Tree on Lake Chautauqua. Unusual trees are still increasing there. An article on ornamental gourds was read by Mrs. Nellie Anderson and an interesting floral contest conducted with prizes awarded.

Announcement was made that the men of the club would have charge of the program at the December meeting. Already the group have met to plan for the occasion.

Larkspur Leads Annual Flowers for Fall Sowing

While all hardy annuals, which survive frosts in the spring, can be sown in the fall without danger of injury by freezing, there are other hazards connected with winter which require that fall sowing be done with caution.

Seeds or seedling plants may be sown in locations where water falls to drain off promptly; they may be washed out of the soil by heavy rains, or decay in soil that remains wet too long. Wherever several annuals commonly seed themselves, conditions are likely to be favorable for other varieties. In a garden where no annuals self-seed, it will be prudent to prepare a special bed for fall sowing, with the surface raised several inches to insure good drainage, and surrounded by a wooden curb several inches high, to prevent rains washing over it.

No. 1 candidate for fall sowing, is the annual larkspur. This is a flower that takes a long time to germinate, and demands cool weather in which to do it. It is so hardy that when it drops seed in a favorable place, its tiny seedlings develop in the fall and live through the most severe winters unharmed. If possible, seed should be sown in the place where the flowers are wanted, since it is seldom practical to transplant this subject.

Shirley poppies, calliopsis, candy-tuft, cosmos, the fragrant nicotiana, and all colors of bachelor button are as hardy as oaks, and will grow from fall sown seed unless destroyed by one of the special winter hazards which have been mentioned. These also are seldom transplanted. Since they grow without difficulty from spring sown seed, there is not the same need for fall sowing that exists with the annual larkspur, but plants from fall sowing give flowers earlier, and are much more vigorous than those which are started in the greenhouse or hot-bed in the spring, in the attempt to get early flowers.

When bulbs are planted along in beds or borders, hardy annuals may be sown in the same place this fall, to blossom after the bulbs have flowered and their foliage has disappeared. Rows of hardy annuals suitable for cut flowers may be sown in the vegetable plot, after it has been spaded this fall.

In sections where a brief spring cuts short the flowering season of sweet peas, earlier flowers and a longer season can be obtained by fall sowing, taking precautions as suggested against decay in damp soil. By covering the ground with a light mulch of leaves, straw or similar substance, after it has frozen, winter thaws may be prevented, which might otherwise cause injury.

Other annuals which are successfully fall sown include snapdragons, cynoglossum, hardy pinks, California poppy, nigella and petunia.

Roosevelt Wanted Wallace In 1944 Georgia's Governor Arnall Declares In Book

(Editor's Note: Georgia's Gov. Ellis Arnall has described his liberal record and his credo for America in a book, "The Shore Dimly Seen," published today by Lippincott. In the following extract he tells of Roosevelt's attitude toward the fourth term and quotes his opinion, given in 1944, of Henry Wallace and James F. Byrnes.) by Ellis Gibbs Arnall.

New York. (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt had given me an appointment to talk politics, but he had not permitted the conversation to reach that subject.

"Mr. President, you helped me a great deal in my campaign in 1942, with advice and by talking with some of your friends in my behalf," I had begun. "This is a national election year, and I would like to do what I can for you. Are you planning to make the race for a fourth term for president?"

He did not reply directly. Instead he spoke of Hyde Park and of his occupation as a grower of Christmas trees. It was a somewhat unusual crop, but a profitable one, and did not impoverish the land, he observed.

"Mr. President, the first time you invited me to visit you at Warm Springs, you told me about the Christmas trees at Hyde Park," I said, when he gave me an opening. "It is a very interesting story, but the fourth term is more interesting."

He remembered my visit to Warm Springs. He remembered his own numerous visits to Georgia. . . . Finally, he ended and sat silent for a few minutes.

"I am very tired," he said. "my health isn't as good as in 1932, you know, and I am twelve years older."

He continued his explanation. The office was an expensive one to hold, and he wished to return to Hyde Park and rest. What did the people think?

They would like for you to stay in office, Mr. President," I told him.

"We are in a war, Ellis," he replied. "I will not ask for the office, but if the Democratic party nominates me, I will be a candidate. It would be as much a matter of duty as a soldier obeying orders from his commanding officer."

"Can I tell the correspondents that when I leave?" . . .

"You can tell them." His voice was a little flat, as if the recollections of Hyde Park and Warm Springs had gone out of it, and only the tiredness remained.

I asked him if he had a choice of his running-mate on the ticket. He told me that he wished for and hoped for the renomination of Henry Wallace.

"They tell me that Henry would cost the ticket a million votes. What do you think?"

I replied that, while I did not know the vice-president, while I knew that he had many political enemies and was unpopular with some groups, Henry Wallace would gain more votes than he would lose for the ticket.

The president continued to discuss other possibilities for the office, discarding them one by one.

"There is Jimmy Byrnes, who is a good man and a good friend," he said, "but I have talked with some of the outstanding Catholics of the country about Jimmy, because he was reared in the Catholic church and became a Protestant. They have no prejudices themselves, but they believe that his nomination would not only mean a loss of many votes, but that it would arouse some bitter antagonisms over the nation. When they told me that"—his eyes strayed about the room and finally found the window—"then Jimmy's chances went out the window."

He returned to vice President Wallace.

"Henry is a great man, though some people don't understand him. He has courage and loyalty. Nobody has been more loyal."

(Governor Arnall next described events leading up to the Democratic national convention and the nomination of Senator Harry Truman instead of Wallace as Roosevelt's running mate. At a subsequent White House chat, the following conversation transpired between the Georgian and the chief executive.)

I was not disappointed and I did not think Mr. Wallace was disappointed.

"However, Mr. President, I think Henry Wallace ought to have any place in the government that he is willing to accept."

"He can have any place that he would like in the cabinet, except the place of Cordell Hull as secretary of state," the president replied. "Henry is a great friend, the most loyal man I know," the president told me that Harry Truman would grow in stature.

A REPORT of the progress we're making in wiping out the waiting list for telephone service in

WARREN

Telephone instruments are coming through O.K.

We're now getting sufficient supplies of telephone instruments to meet current demands. That part of the job is under control.

Installation of additional central office equipment completed

Recently we completed the installation of additional equipment in the central office serving this area . . . providing sufficient facilities to take care of some of those now waiting for service.

More "outside plant" needed

But before service can be furnished to others of those now on the waiting list, we'll need additional outside plant . . . wire and cable to connect telephones with the central office. Continuing shortages of lead and cable and other unpredictable factors make it difficult to determine when we'll be able to get this part of the job done. We hope it will be soon.

Thousands of dollars to wipe out waiting lists

Altogether we'll spend thousands of dollars in this locality—and millions of dollars throughout the state—to provide the facilities needed to furnish telephone service to all who want it. It's a big job and the problems are many. But we're making real progress. Your continued understanding is greatly appreciated.

In every case, our Business Office will notify applicants as soon as it is possible to give them service.

War Veteran Given Coupe Under US Law

The Keystone Garage, local Ford dealers have delivered a new Ford convertible coupe to World War II veteran Dave Deardoff. Mr. Deardoff is the first World War veteran in Warren to be allotted a new car under the Veterans Administration Public Law No. 663. The law provides $1600 for a car or other conveyance for any veteran of World War II at no cost for having suffered the loss of an arm or a leg amputation.

The Ford Company also furnishes a Ford special driving device, designed to secure a drivers license. No World War II man or woman having an arm or leg amputation or both need be deprived of the opportunity of driving a new Ford.

Company I To Enlist Men At Armory Tonite

Captain Joseph Shearer, of Company I has arranged to enlist men at the Armory this evening for the company being formed. The deadline for enlisting sufficient men for the company will expire on November 15 and if there is not a sufficient enrollment Warren will lose its militia company and armory.

At the present time the number of men enrolled is not sufficient to form the company and men are coming in but slowly. A portion of the men who have enlisted took their physical examination last Monday night and this evening others will be examined by Dr. Haines.

There must be at least 23 men properly enlisted before the company can be federalized into the 112th Regiment.

Public Asked To Aid Police In Theft Probe

The police department is investigating the disappearance of a collection of army insignia that had been on display in a case at the Warren Public Library, loaned for the occasion by a youthful collector who valued them very highly and had spent considerable money and time securing them.

The young collector is Jack Tumms, 619 Conewango avenue, and he is quite grieved over his loss. Chief of Police Hahn has sufficient evidence to justify the suspicion that the emblems were taken by a boy or boys, and that they may have been taken home. The cooperation of Warren parents is solicited by the authorities in recovering them. The officers are of the opinion that after the collection was taken the person responsible may have exhibited them among friends or relatives. They are requesting that any person with knowledge of such an incident communicate with them at once. Return of the collection to the owner is the main objective of the police.

LEWIS C. LEVAN

Funeral services in memory of Lewis C. LeVan, well known Warren resident, were held from the Gibson Funeral Home Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, the Rev. Harold C. Warren, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating.

Bearers for interment in Pleasantville cemetery were: William Lord, Britton Latshaw, Owen Unargst, John Traffer, Elson Olney and Henry Holmlund.

DAVID E. CANBY

A wide circle of friends and acquaintances in this community will regret the news that David E. Canby, Wilmington, Del., formerly of Warren, passed away yesterday afternoon in the Wilmington General Hospital. He is survived by his wife, Mary Alice Canby, and two children, Ann and David.

JAMES W. McMILLAN

The body of James W. McMILLAN, aged 78, is at the E. A. Peterson funeral home, where friends may call and services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Friday. Harold Ewing, reader for the local Christian Science church, will officiate and solicit by the authorities in recovering them. The officers are of the opinion that after the collection was taken the person responsible may have exhibited them among friends or relatives. They are requesting that any person with knowledge of such an incident communicate with them at once. Return of the collection to the owner is the main objective of the police.

Look To America

Despite the fact that the war is over for Americans, there are many millions in Europe and Asia who will have another war this winter—the war against hunger, cold and disease. And many thousands will perish. The need for food and clothing, while greatly decreased in parts of Europe, will be greater than ever in Central Europe and eastern Asia. Dr. Ivan Gould, representing the Pennsylvania Council of Churches and the Pennsylvania Council of Christian Education, is summoning the churches and Sunday schools of the state to increase their donations of material goods and money this fall and winter. He points out that with the present cessation of UNRRA on January 1st, private and religious relief agencies will face a much heavier burden than last winter. Pennsylvanians are urged to send material goods through the Church World Service Center, New Windsor, Md., or through various denominational warehouses. Goods sent to New Windsor are usually ready for shipment abroad within 48 hours. Reporting on the need for money, Dr. Gould says: "Cash is needed to purchase medical supplies, food, Bibles, bicycles and a host of other materials. With one dollar, 16 pounds of a special relief cereal, containing 1650 calories, can be bought and delivered to the Port of New York. This is the biggest food bargain on the market. For 6 1/2 cents one can feed a hungry child more than he gets from all other available sources." Cash gifts, he reminds, should be sent through local pastors or denominational headquarters. To illustrate how surplus goods are desperately needed overseas, Dr. Gould states flour sacks and cotton feed sacks can be used not only as towels, curtains and bedding, but as shirts, handkerchiefs, underwear and diapers. When such cotton material is available over there, the equivalent of one feed sack costs four to five dollars. It is reliably reported by church observers that many women in Central Europe are still wrapping their babies in newspapers.

the interment will be in the Coe cemetery at English Settlement in Rome township.

Mr. McMILLAN had been in failing health for four years and prior to his illness was employed by Jackson and Ludwick. He was born at Fink Ridge in Rome township on June 2, 1868. He was a son of William and Ann Jane Wright. He was married to Ellen Jackson at Titusville and prior to moving to Route 1, Oil City, last June, they resided at 416 West Walnut street. Before moving to Titusville nine years ago they lived in Warren.

Mr. McMILLAN was a member of the Rome township Covenant Presbyterian church. Besides the widow he leaves a son, Claude E. McMILLAN, of Warren, and two sisters, Mrs. Anna Cheney, of Conneaut, O., and Mrs. Mary Waid, of New Martinsville, W. Va.

CARL O. JOHNSON

Services in memory of Carl O. Johnson were held at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Bethlehem Covenant church, with the Rev. Pierson, of Russell, and Rev. Gustafson, of Warren, officiating. Mrs. Gurney Lindquist sang two hymns, one in Swedish and the other in English, "Beyond The Sunset." Bearers were Sidney Erickson, Gus Swanson, Morris Peterson, Charles Waterbanc, Albert Johnson and Leonard Nicholson.

BOARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our many relatives, friends and neighbors for the many kind deeds, floral offerings and the use of cars in the recent death of our beloved father and husband, C. Y. Canby.

Kopf Home On Market Street Broken Into

Some time during last night the home of Mrs. Mary Kopf, Market Street, was broken into and the house was ransacked from top to bottom. Entrance was made by breaking a window at the rear of the home and opening the lock. The thieves apparently left by the front door.

Mrs. Kopf is absent from the home at the present time and no correct check can be made of missing articles until she returns. However from present appearances little was taken.

Police were summoned this morning and spent some time in the home taking fingerprints, etc., and making a general check for clues.

Bradford To Celebrate Oil Anniversary

Bradford, Nov. 7.—This center of Pennsylvania's crude oil production industry will commemorate the 75th anniversary of the opening of the Bradford oil field with a three day community celebration, November 18-20.

It was three-quarters of a century ago this month that drillers struck the Bradford third sand at 1100 feet and opened what is today the oldest large oil field in the United States.

The celebration, sponsored by the Bradford Chamber of Commerce and the 300 independent oil producers operating in this field, will emphasize secondary oil recovery by water flooding, a technique in production pioneered in this area.

The water flooding method has revitalized the Bradford field, which experts as far back as 1890 predicted was drying up. In the twenty years that water flooding has been used extensively, oil production in the Bradford district has surpassed the volume of natural flow from the wells in the first fifty years of its history.

The celebration will include an oil producer's banquet Tuesday night, November 19, at the Valley Hunt Club, and will conclude with a parade, replete with floats, on Wednesday, November 20.

It is planned to erect a plaque to mark the site, two miles from the city, where the first well was brought in by Job Moses, a legendary figure in oil history, who retired soon afterwards without profiting from the bonanza that followed his discovery.

The Bradford oil field still ranks among the top producing fields in the United States in both total and annual production. In recent years the Bradford field has been supply four-fifths of Pennsylvania's crude oil production, and half of that of the whole Pennsylvania grade region, which includes portions of New York, West Virginia, and Ohio.

Despite the longevity of the field and its present rate of oil recovery, it is estimated there will be left in the Bradford oil sands in 1960 more oil than will have been recovered up to that time. New techniques in the application of water flooding methods are being developed in an effort to recover an estimated 750,000,000 barrels locked in the oil sands of this region.

The water flooding method developed here is now being used to greater degree in other oil fields of the country where natural flow is decreasing.

Hoople Confounds Carping Souls By Recalling Feats

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Former Channel Swimmer

Following a recent Saturday when it was claimed that most of the games turned out differently from the result I prognosticated, received several written requests for my seasonal percentage. How! People can be so humorous sometimes!

I am not one given to holding ostentatious or inept about old results. Egad! Has the spirit of good, clean fun vanished from this mortal coil?

Can it be possible these carping souls are questioning my prestige? Well, let me disperse their ebullient forces with just a word. It was Hoople (I mean it was me a person) who selected the Cardinals to win the pennant during the late season, and it was the same man who picked the Red Sox to garner the gonfalon.

Notre Dame Gridders To Travel Today

By SID FEDER
South Bend, Ind., Nov. 7—(AP)—All of Notre Dame's skyrocketing hopes for revenge on the Army after two long years of waiting, all of the long labor the Irish put in for a solid year of postwar reconstruction looking to this very week-end—everything rested today on one sprained ankle.

This was the ailing right angle of Connellsville Johnny Lujack, who quarterbacked the Irish to their last gridiron win over the Cadets back in '43.

Lujack is so vital in the signal calling, forward passing and, especially, the defensive machinery, that Notre Dame Coach Frank Leahy says he's better than his predecessor, Angelo Bertelli. And Bertelli you remember, was so good his day they just about wrote songs and named their children after him around here.

Johnny hurt his ankle yesterday in the final full dress drill for Saturday's super colossal clash with the Cadets in New York as winding up on Cartier Field, and only a couple of hours after teammates elected him and half-back Gerry Cowhig as the Army game co-captains.

Up to now I have said little or nothing about this feat of forecasting. I am not a man to shut from the houseposts. Let the chips fall where they may.

But don't you think you ought to be gently reminded of this astounding bit of cold, unemotional figuring?

Have patience and loyalty, gentle readers, and peruse the menu dished up for you this week-end.

INNOCENT

"Snippy" answers to customers? The "run-around"? The "let-em-wait" attitude? Not at Personal Finance Company! My customers have declared me innocent!

And they say I'm not guilty either of saying "No" to them when they ask for something. Proof: 4 out of 5 who ask for a loan here—get it!

"Personal" makes loans from $25 to $250 on signature alone, or on furniture or auto. Friends, relatives or employer not notified.

Usually I say "Yes" to loan requests in a hurry. But even when circumstances are unusual, I try to find a way to work out a deal. That's why "Personal" is so often able to make loans that others cannot.

Like most people, I don't believe in unnecessary borrowing... but when a loan is needed or to your advantage, I'll be glad to say "Yes." Any time you need extra cash—see me, won't you? I'm at Personal Finance Co., 216 Liberty street, second floor, over Lester Shoe Store. Phone 285.

Tug-o-War

It was a tough struggle between 700-pound bluefin tuna and Mr. and Mrs. John Manning of Los Angeles, aided by two companions, but the fisherfolk won. Prize was final catch of the Mannings' season of fishing in Soldier's Rip, off Wedgeport, N.S., during which they got 43 bluefins totalling 25,000 pounds.

ARMY LACKED BLASTING BLANCHARD, WAS STRANGE TO "T" IN IRISH GAME OF 1943

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

New York, Nov. 6—(NEA)—With a normal Notre Dame team coming into Yankee Stadium on Saturday for the first time since 1943, a lot of people are wondering about the cloak of invincibility which they so carefully wrapped around Army.

The last time the Irish hit Broadway fully equipped, the Cadets didn't do so well. As a matter of fact, West Point looked rather bad on the short end of a 26-0 count.

"And that team had Glenn Davis in the backfield and was rather highly regarded, too," they stress.

All of which is true, but the modern T with man-in-motion was entirely new to the young men of the Hudson Highlands three years ago, and they possessed no blasting fullback like Doc Blanchard to make it go.

Army did not get tough, launch its 25-game winning streak until 1944, when Mr. Inside Blanchard came along to assist Mr. Outside Davis.

Junior Davis is the only member of this fall's Army varsity who remembers the Notre Dame holocaust. Several of the current Notre Dammers appeared against Army in 1943, notably Johnny Lujack, Jim Mello and the place-kicking Fred Early.

To compare stars, Lujack, who setpiped in the incomparable Angelo Bertelli, put it all over Davis that autumn, completed eight of 15 passes for 179 yards, and two touchdowns, scored of football since, come a long way, has not forgotten his humiliation. Lujack has been out of football the past two falls.

Notre Dame made 21 first downs to Army's nine three years ago, gained 237 yards rushing to 114, completed eight passes against four, picked up 176 yards on forwards against 30, ran back Army's single punt 63 yards. On three punts West Point did not run the ball back a yard. Army fumbled eight times to once for Notre Dame.

But that Army team also was tied by Pennsylvania, 13-13, and beaten by Navy, 13-0.

Things like that are just not happening to this Army team. Notre Dame may prove too deep in reserves for the Cadets, but this is an entirely new deal.

The S. U. Engineers took three points from the E. and E. Garage, Rapp's 225-224 singles and 633 total doing the heavy work for the Engineers while Morley's 535 total paced the losers.

Keystone Printers figured in another three point win. Paced by Lujack and Davis were 18 at the time Davis had played a lot

Tomorrow
you'll be glad you waited
today.

Waiting for a new motor car isn't exactly the easiest or most pleasant experience in the world. But the saying about patience having its own reward holds doubly true when your patience is rewarded by delivery of a gleaming, new Pontiac "Silver Streak". Up to now Pontiac production has been limited for reasons beyond our control. Now production is increasing. As of today, it's still below anticipations. But the trend is definitely encouraging. Which means that your wait is being shortened every day. And when you do become the proud owner of a new Pontiac, you'll be mighty glad you waited—and your feeling of gladness will grow with every passing month and mile. Because in every way, the new Pontiac measures up to the phrase, "Finest of the Famous Silver Streaks". In dependability and economy it lives up to its great war-on reputation. It looks, handles, rides and feels like the quality car it is. It's a value that will endure over the years—something well worth waiting for!

DON'T CROWD BIDS, IS EXPERT'S ADVICE

BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service
One of Chicago's oldest bridge clubs, The Bridge Players Club, operated by Mrs. Lesley Pope Cook and Mrs. Madeline Anderson, is doing very well in its new quarters at the Hamilton Hotel. Today's hand was played at the club, and was sent to me for an opinion on an argument concerning it.
The bidding given is the way it happened at the club. In my opinion North should show the heart suit first, but I do not favor his two heart bid as it is apt to crowd the bidding.

After a free bid by North, South is practically forced to rebid; therefore over one heart, South would bid two clubs; West two diamonds; and now North should bid two spades. This shows a new suit and also a reversal.
Once again South is forced to rebid, and in all probability should bid two no trump to show no support for either hearts or spades. North will then bid three spades, which definitely marks him with five spades and six hearts.
Had the two suits been five each, the spade bid would have been the proper overcall on the first round instead of hearts.
While South has only two hearts, he does have a fit in spades and has the valuable queen of hearts. Therefore South should not just take a preference; he should bid five hearts, and of course North will go to six hearts.

When South bids five hearts, North should know that he does not have control of the diamond suit. While South invites a slam, the bidding indicates that it can be made only if North has control in diamonds. With the void in diamonds North is justified in bidding the small slam.

Market Leaders Stumble As Individual Stocks Revive

By VICTOR BURANE
New York (Nov. 7)—(E)—Individual stocks got back on their feet today although many market leaders continued to stumble.

Wednesday's reaction was extended at the start in relatively active dealings. There was a subsequent rally led by rails. Offerings again dropped up around midday and extreme advances running to 2 points or so were reduced or transformed into minus marks near the fourth hour.

Erratic movements of cotton and grains futures which weakened and revived at intervals apparently inspired speculative and investment caution for shares. While Wall Street still was cheering over the Republican victory, brokers said, there was a disposition to step carefully pending more light on labor-management disputes and

Molotov To Call At White House

Washington, Nov. 6—(E)—President Truman, suffering from a head cold, cancelled all appointments today except an afternoon meeting with Russian Foreign Minister Molotov.

The chief executive, who picked up the cold on his trip to Missouri to vote, stayed in the presidential part of the White House.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told newsmen that Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham, the president's physician, advised Mr. Truman "to stay over to the house today." Ross added that the cold "is nothing serious."

Mr. Truman will go to his office to greet Molotov. The Russian diplomat's visit was described as a "courtesy call."

Molotov, who has been attending the Foreign Ministers Conference in New York, will be accompanied to the executive mansion by Under Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Russian Ambassador Nikolai V. Novikov.

The foreign ministers' meeting is in recess today and Molotov arranged to come to Washington to join in an anniversary observance of the anniversary of the Russian Revolution.

majority leader and to head the tax-writing finance committee, should he decline the active floor leadership and retain his chairmanship of the Republican steering committee, the leadership may go to Senator Wallace White of Maine, now minority leader.

Regardless of how the organization problems are settled, Republicans will have a working majority in both the senate and the house. Already they are assured of 246 house and 51 senate seats, 28 more than an actual majority in the house and three more than half of the senate.

islands—the Marshalls, Carolinas and Marianas—over to the U. N. are contained in a draft agreement now being circulated among the 12 members of the Security Council and two other nations, New Zealand and the Philippines.

Disclosure of the terms gave rise to immediate speculation that Russia would almost certainly attack the proposals and might possibly veto them in the Security Council. In the latter event, however, the hands would continue in their present status as occupied enemy territory.

The draft agreement not only reserves to the United States unrestricted rights to establish military, naval and air bases within the trust territory, but provides that any or all of the area may be declared closed for security reasons.

This means that the United States would be able to bar U. N. inspection of the entire area if she desired to do so.

elects—as some of his advisers are certain to urge him to do—to enlarge and recommit the legislative program which Republican-Democrat coalition hacked into small pieces in the 79th congress.

The argument of these advisers, who want the Democratic party to be labelled unmistakably as the liberal political organ, is that the party will stand to benefit in 1948 from any mistakes the Republican congress might make in the next two years.

There was, however, plenty of evidence that there is some dissatisfaction within the Democratic party on the score of Mr. Truman's leadership.

Jailers Remember Nuernberg: Keep Close Watch Over Tojo

By TOM LAMBERT
Tokyo—(AP)—With a glance over their shoulders at Nuernberg, J. S. military police keep a close and stern watch over the last of the world's major war criminal suspects—Hideki Tojo and company.

Col. Francis Cray, Washington, D. C., passes off the question of whether security regulations have been tightened since Goering's suicide, saying it's like that one about "have you stopped beating your wife?"

Cray's men assert, however, that if constant vigilance can avert a Goering episode "it won't happen here."

Here is a glimpse at the security routine as the 27 accused walk solemnly down the long, tunnel-like corridor to their cell block after their day in war crimes court.

They have just come from the war ministry building, the trial scene, in a closely-guarded bus.

Over these little men, looking anything but the arrogant conquerors of 1941-42 loom husky American military police.

Tojo, who became the very symbol of the oriental end of the Axis, shifts his brief case from his right to his left hand, reaches inside his mustard-colored jacket, and scratches his ribs.

Military police swing back the steel door and count them into the cell block, nodding at Mamoru Shigemitsu, he of the wooden leg who was Tojo's foreign minister at one time, limping along in the rear.

The cell block door clangs shut and the prisoners go on down the block, falling out of line to enter their small, steel-doored rooms.

The doors close and through the peep holes in each door guards take up the watch.

The defendants are checked in and out of their cells for baths, shaving, exercise and religious ceremonies.

They are fed well by the Japanese government, but before their generous meal of rice, fish and vegetables is handed in it's probed by guards looking for anything that might be smuggled in.

Unlike the other 800 prisoners in Sugamo, these 27 men are allowed to bathe and shave daily. Guards bring them out in groups of 12, six of whom bathe while the others shave. A guard issues each prisoner a blade for a safety razor and the blades are collected before they leave the bathroom.

There are several hundred Japanese working in Sugamo, but none has contact with the prisoners.

The Japanese who approach the closest are the mess attendants, who ladle food from large aluminum kettles into the prisoners' bowls. Guards watch this process carefully.

Within their cells, the defendants read, write and just sit. They can go to religious services if they wish. The prison has a Buddhist shrine and a Buddhist priest makes regular visits.

The prisoners are allowed one visitor monthly, but they must speak through a screen in a closely guarded visitors room.
